About the Event

Overcoming hardships, whatever the hardships may be, is no simple task. Yet, we can boil it down to one word: Resilience. Put simply, resilience is the ability to adapt, withstand, or recover from disruptions while continuing to deliver value.

Resilience is usually accomplished by teams that are prepared for challenges and, in a coordinated way, shift with the chaos of the unavoidable crisis. Leaders who understand that all teammates play important roles and help teammates explicitly understand their purposes are better prepared for adversity.

For all of us, life is full of difficulties. Our futures promise more challenges—challenges that will test the resilience of your company, your family and friends, and you.

We ask you to Sponsor CommHIT24 on October 17, 2024 at CommHIT's Kennedy Space Center Headquarters. And, when you face challenges, we want your story to be one of resilience.

Audience

Expect 150–200 attendees from all business sectors critical to Florida, including space, aerospace, transportation, health, tech, education, manufacturing, construction, and government. A list of last year's attending organizations can be found on pages 8 & 9. Most attendees will be from Florida or do business in Florida.

Event Purpose

This year's CommHIT24 is dedicated to sharing what businesses need to know to recover, stabilize, and continue with purpose and mission when they face volatility, adversity, struggles, or disasters. CommHIT24 will showcase the latest and greatest presentations, exhibitors, and activities to instill resilience into attendees' businesses and help exhibitors show support for the communities they serve.
